

Dear Salvatorian,

With this letter we send you the final version of the Charter of the Salvatorian Family, approved by the three branches of our Family in the general chapters/ international assembly held in October, 2012.

If you remember, a provisional draft was approved in 2007. A review of that draft in preparation for this final approval produced two small changes: always using “Blessed Mary of the Apostles” and changing the title to chapter three.

We quote from the letter that was sent with the provisional draft in 2007: As Salvatorians we have always recognized “universality” as an important aspect of our charism. In a world of so much division and conflict, our ability to be united despite our many differences is a sorely needed witness to the world. We invite each Salvatorian to work to build up the Family, especially in places where all three branches do not yet exist. Hopefully, this charter will be a helpful tool to do so.

May God bless us as we continue to strive “that all may know the Savior”!

Sincerely in the Divine Savior,

(The letter that was sent with the 2007 provisional draft follows in full.)

Dear Salvatorian,

A Salvatorian Family Charter is intended to help all Salvatorians (Fathers and Brothers, Sisters, Lay Salvatorians) to clarify and deepen our understanding of our identity as a Salvatorian Family and to identify those elements of our Salvatorian life, charism, spirituality, community, and mission which we all share in common.

With these words and goal, the 1999 General Chapter of the Society and the 2001 General Chapter of the Congregation began a process that brings us today to this charter. The process itself shows our growth: in the first step only the Society and Congregation were involved, because there was no international leadership for the Lay Salvatorians. Then the three branches were involved. And finally, the charter which you are receiving with this letter has been approved by the international leadership teams of ALL THREE BRANCHES of our Family on August 13th, 2007.

The process will continue. Our next general chapters/assembly, which will be held simultaneously in 2012, will approve the definitive text based on our experience of living this charter over the next five years.

Therefore, our task is to embrace this charter, live it, study it, experiment with it, so that by 2012 we know how we can improve it as an instrument to help us grow into the future.

Specifically, our general chapters/assembly of 2006 stated the following:

“All Salvatorians, religious and lay, continue their common reflection on the elements of the provisional Charter during the next six years” and “The national leadership bodies of the three branches missions, and by General Chapters of the Fathers/Brothers and Sisters and meetings of the Board of the International Community of the Divine Savior in the same calendar year.

- c. The leaders of each of the three branches collaborate in making decisions directly impacting the entire Salvatorian Family.

Conclusion

As followers of Father Francis Jordan and Blessed Mary of the Apostles, and imbued with their missionary spirit, we accept this charter as an expression of our identity as a Salvatorian Family. We ask the intercession of Father Francis and Blessed Mary of the Apostles that each of us will assume our Salvatorian vocation with zeal and with gratitude.

FOUR Our Collaboration

"Above all, the members shall cultivate mutual charity so that... they show themselves to be companions of the Apostles, taking as their special legacy the words of our greatest Master, Jesus Christ..., 'A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; even as I have loved you, you too shall love each other.'"

- Rules for the First Grade of the Apostolic Teaching Society 1882

14. As a Salvatorian Family, we seek to provide a visible witness of men and women from diverse cultures and backgrounds working side-by-side in mission. We nurture trust and respect for the differences among us, learn from one another, and value the contribution that each is able to make for our life and mission.
15. Although the three branches are autonomous, it is in our lived interaction that we also express our charism. We collaborate with one another in new initiatives where the gifts of all are needed and by assisting the other branches, when possible, in their respective apostolates and activities.
16. The whole Salvatorian Family shares in the responsibility to promote mutual understanding and a growing sense of common identity by participating in gatherings, dialog and common projects.
17. Our leaders coordinate interaction among us and promote an awareness of our identity and universality as a Salvatorian Family and a commitment to solidarity among the three branches.
 - a. At the national level in countries where there are members of two or three branches of the Salvatorian Family, collaboration is promoted by meetings of their leadership bodies and by a national coordinating team with representatives from each branch.
 - b. At the international level, collaboration is promoted by meetings of the leadership bodies, by joint com-work together to develop a continuing formation process for this reflection."

As Salvatorians we have always recognized "universality" as an important aspect of our charism. In a world of so much division and conflict, our ability to be united despite our many differences is a soresly needed witness to the world. Therefore, we invite each Salvatorian to be involved in the reflective and formative processes that will unfold during the next years. We invite each Salvatorian to work to build up the Family, especially in places where all three branches do not yet exist. We pledge our assistance as leadership in any way possible.

May God bless us as we continue to strive "that all may know the Savior"!

Sincerely in the Divine Savior,

THREE

Our Spirituality

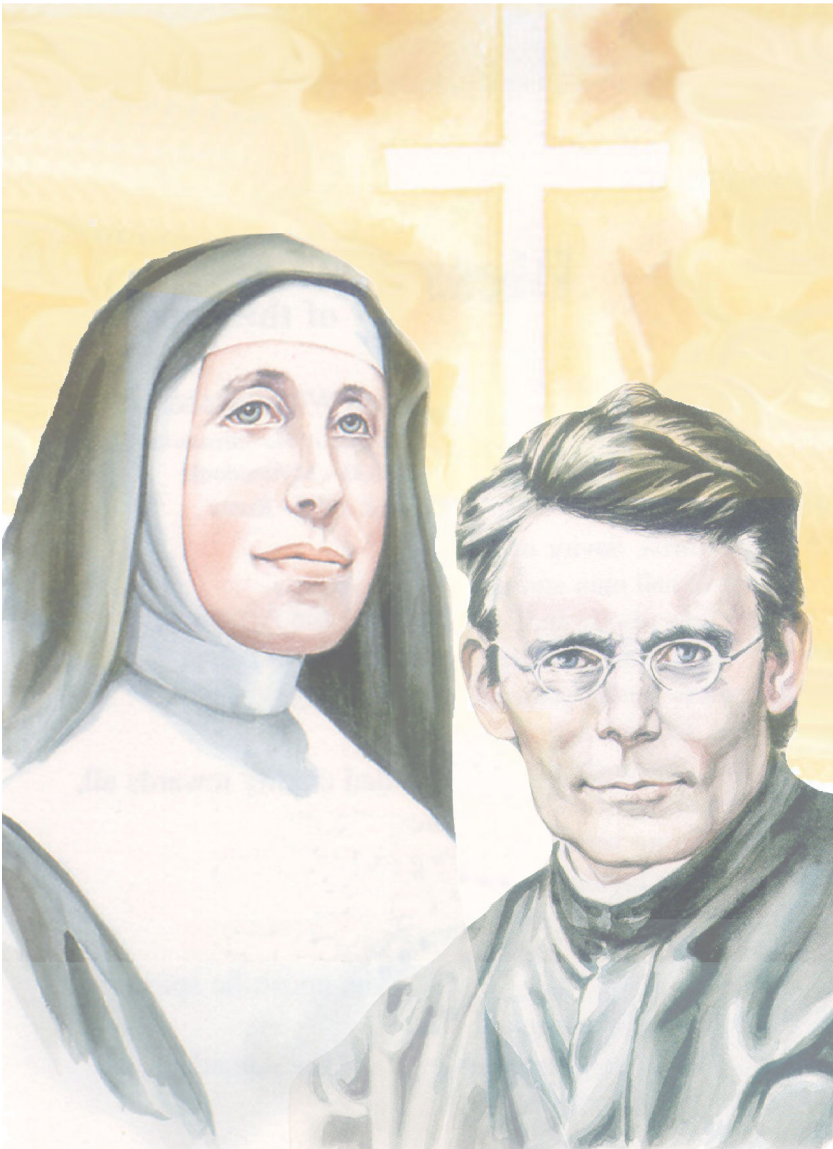

"I throw myself into Your arms, my Savior and Redeemer.
With you, for You, through You and in You, I want to live and die."

- Father Jordan: Spiritual Diary I, 9: 15 November 1875

"Yes, let us zealously pray and work that the will of Jesus,
'Your Kingdom come', be fulfilled."

- Blessed Mary of the Apostles: Letter, May 20, 1901

10. Lived in the real world, our personal and communal spirituality is rooted in our experience of God the Father. Jesus Christ, who came to give life to all, is the Source and the Center of our spirituality. With Mary, His mother, we bear to others the Savior we have come to know ourselves. The Holy Spirit guides and enlightens us along the way.
11. In our meditation and contemplation on the Word of God in light of our reality and in the celebration of the Sacraments, we integrate our prayer and action. In so doing, we strive to live our call to holiness and encourage others to do the same.
12. The witness of Father Jordan and Blessed Mary of the Apostles inspires us to be persons of prayer, to embrace the Cross for the sake of our mission, to have an unshakable trust in Divine Providence and to live a simple lifestyle, and to have a special devotion to Mary as the Mother of the Savior.
13. We manifest the goodness and kindness of God both in our mission and in our way of relating as a Salvatorian Family. In prayer and dialog, we seek to understand one another and are ready to forgive.

- c. We make the eternal truths of the Word of God and our Faith accessible to persons of any culture, race, ethnic group, social class, nationality and religion.
 - d. We live a spirit of dialog in inter-cultural, inter-religious, and inter-denominational environments.
9. Each branch of the Salvatorian Family expresses our common mission in its own particular way.

Sine Deo nihil possumus.

Charter of the Salvatorian Family

Approved October 2012

PREFACE

As long as there is one person on earth who does not know God and does not love God above all things,
you dare not allow yourself a moment's rest.

As long as God is not everywhere glorified,
you dare not allow yourself a moment's rest.

As long as the Queen of heaven and earth is not everywhere praised,
you dare not allow yourself a moment's rest.

No sacrifice, no cross, no desolation, no trial, no temptation, oh! absolutely nothing should be too difficult for you with the help of God's grace.
I can do all things in God who strengthens me.

Let no betrayal, no infidelity,
no coldness, no abuse lessen your zeal!

But everything through God, with God, and for God.
All peoples, races, nations and tongues,
glorify the Lord our God.

Woe to me, O Lord,
if I do not make you known to men [and women]!

O Lord, help me, show me the way!
Without you, I can do nothing.
I hope all things from You.
In you, O Lord, I have hoped,
I will not be confounded for ever.

Pray at all times in the deepest humility and with the greatest confidence.
Let nothing keep you from it.

ONE

Our Call and Charism

“Eternal Life is this:

To know You, the One True God, and Jesus Christ whom You have sent.”

- John 17:3

1. Moved by a deep experience of God, the situation of the Church, and the reality of his time, Father Francis Mary of the Cross Jordan was filled with an urgent desire that all people know the one true God and experience fullness of life through Jesus the Savior. His vision was to unite all the apostolic forces in the Church to love and proclaim Jesus as the Savior to a world in need of God. He included people from all ages and all walks of life, working together everywhere and by all ways and means.
2. The Salvatorian Family is an expression of the charism, the gift of the Spirit given to Father Jordan for the Church. We trace our common roots back to the Apostolic Teaching Society, founded by Father Jordan on 8 December 1881 in Rome. Diocesan priests were its first members. Therese von Wüllenweber (later Blessed Mary of the Apostles) committed herself to this Society in 1882. Large numbers of laity of all ages joined this foundation.
3. Today the Salvatorian Family has three autonomous branches: the Society of the Divine Savior, The Congregation of the Sisters of the Divine Savior, and the International Community of the Divine Savior. We are united by our commitment to the mission as envisioned by our Founder, forming one family of zealous apostles who announce to all the salvation that has appeared in Jesus Christ. (Titus 3:4) Just as Father Jordan’s original project evolved over time, we are open to where the Spirit will lead us in the future.
4. We live our call in equality and complementarity in ways appropriate to our diverse states in life, gifts, and cultures.

TWO

Our Mission

”...proclaim the word of God, be urgent in season, out of season, rebuke with all patience and teaching. Go, and with perseverance speak all the words of eternal life to the people.”

- Father Jordan: Reg. 1884

“Yes, this apostolic spirit we, all of us, have to try to acquire more and more.”

- Blessed Mary of the Apostles: Letter, June 28, 1900

5. Following in the footsteps of the Savior like the apostles, we are called to live and announce God’s unconditional love, continuing Jesus’ life-giving work of bringing salvation to all creation and liberation from all that is a threat to fullness of life. (Matthew 28:19-20, Mark 16:15)
6. Our personal and communal experience of salvation is the dynamic and animating energy for our mission.
7. We nurture our love for the Church and work within it with a prophetic awareness as witnesses of the Gospel. Convinced as Father Jordan and Blessed Mary of the Apostles were of the vocation of all the baptized to be a living force in the Church and for a just world, we form and support leaders in the work of evangelization.
8. Our spirit of universality is expressed by all ways and means which the love of God inspires.
 - a. We open ourselves to the questions and challenges of our historical epoch, allowing the signs of the time to reveal to us the ways and means to respond.
 - b. We involve others in our mission and seek to collaborate with those involved in promoting truth, justice and the defense of life, making a preferential option for the poor and for those whose humanity and dignity are not recognized.
